

HILLSTROM SHOT THIS MORNING

Sentence of Death Executed on the I. W. W. Post Found Guilty of the Murder of Two Men.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Salt Lake City, Utah Nov. 19.—Joseph Hillstrom, the I. W. W. post convicted of the murder of J. G. Morrison and the latter's son Arling, was shot to death at 7:41 A. M., after efforts by President Wilson to secure a reprieve for the condemned man had failed and after the state board of pardons had decided that eleventh hour evidence which had come to light was insufficient ground for a reprieve.

Hillstrom went to his death before five expert riflemen in a state of almost complete collapse. He staggered to the chair in which he was to receive the volley of his executioners and his head dropped as he was strapped in. By Hillstrom's request, however, he was not blindfolded, Sheriff Corless having granted the request that the prisoner had sent to him shortly after he had eaten his breakfast.

At 7:41 the signal to fire was given to the riflemen, each of whom was paid $40 for his work. As the volley rang out Hillstrom fell forward against the straps that bound him. He was officially pronounced dead one minute 2-5 seconds after the riflemen had fired.

Sheriff Corless arrived at the prison in an automobile at 7:02 o'clock accompanied by five of his regular deputies. One carried a sawed off shotgun. Though the execution had been set at 7 o'clock it was delayed until the state board of pardons could decide whether Hillstrom should be granted a reprieve as the result of a dispatch from Seattle, the sender of which said that he was with Hillstrom on night that the Morrissons were murdered and asserted that the "hobo poet" was innocent.

At 7:33 Sheriff Corless was notified that the state board of pardons had decided that there was no reason for interference with the law's course. The death march began at 7:37 o'clock. Warden Pratt and a guard took the lead in the march from Hillstrom's cell, followed by two physicians. Then came Hillstrom with a deputy sheriff walking on either side of him.

The death march was quickly ended and the execution followed. An official statement issued at the prison after the execution said that Hillstrom's death had passed off without a hitch and was most humane in every way.

It was Hillstrom's choice that he be executed by shooting. Under the state law of Utah it is possible for a man to elect whether he shall be hanged or shot.

A group of members of the I. W. W. assembled at the main gate shortly before the hour set for the execution. They later moved toward the east end of the prison, the point nearest the place where Hillstrom was to be shot.

Deputy sheriffs and guards walked beside the I. W. W. members as they moved about, but there was no demonstration requiring any interference by the officers.

Early today, many hours after Gov. Spry had refused President Wilson's request to grant Hillstrom a reprieve, the state executive received a telegram from Seattle, the sender of which said he was with Hillstrom on the night when Morrison was murdered and declared that Hillstrom was innocent.

Gov. Spry immediately summoned the board of pardons and it went into session to decide whether the eleventh hour evidence was of sufficient value to grant another reprieve.

In the meantime Hillstrom was awaiting execution in ignorance of the fact that his case was still receiving official consideration. He showed no indication of breaking down.

At 5:30 a. m. a breakfast consisting of ham and eggs, buttered toast and coffee was sent in to the prisoner and he ate heartily. He then requested that he be given some English walnuts.

After breakfast Hillstrom sent through a member of the death squad a request that he should not be blindfolded when he was shot.

Joseph Hillstrom was the nineteenth person to meet the death penalty in Utah and the fifteenth to choose shooting instead of hanging. Of the four who chose hanging two wanted to be hanged "to give the state as much trouble as possible." The first two executions in Utah were those of two Indians hanged in 1855. The first man to be legally shot was William Cockroft in 1861. A woman has never been convicted of murder in Utah.

The death squad is hidden from the victim and each of the riflemen receives as his pay $40 in gold.

Four of the rifles are loaded with ball cartridges and the fifth contains a blank cartridge so that each executioner may believe that he had come to do with the condemned man's death.

Blizzard-Snow.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—George Blizard and Miss Bessie Snow are back in New York. The courtship was stormy. Her mother tried to freeze him. He was game. Weathering the cold rebuffs, and his devotion won out. The Blizards expect to drift their way down town on.

WOMAN TAKES POISON IN COURT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Nov. 19.—Defeated in a law suit, Miss Annesley Kenely, the leading woman journalist in England, took poison in the presence of judge and jury today. As the court announced the case had been non-suited Miss Kenely rose dramatically from her seat and standing before the judge drank the contents of a small bottle before any court attache could reach her.

As she threw aside the empty vial, Miss Kenely exclaimed to the court: "I have taken enough poison to kill five people. My lord, you have ruined my life."

She was immediately carried out of the court room and after antidotes had been administered she was hurried to a hospital.

Just before she became unconscious Miss Kenely again shrieked at Justice Coleridge:

"My lord, I told you, told you that you were trying a woman for her life!"

By this time the court room was in an uproar, but order was finally restored and the doctors who had been hastily summoned were able to reach the side of the suffering woman. They immediately administered antidotes.

The suit in which Miss Kenely was defeated was one which she had brought against Smith & Sons, book-sellers, for damages on the ground that the firm had made false and malicious statements defamatory of "The Waterbury's Weekly," a book which she had written.

After taking testimony for three days, Justice Coleridge entered judgment for the defendants without submitting the case to the jury.

The doctors who attended Miss Kenely in court said that she would have died within a few minutes if aid had not reached her. They had her removed in a stretcher to the Charing Street Hospital, where it was stated that her condition was serious, and that recovery was doubtful.

Miss Kenely is a sister of the late Alexander Kenely, editor of the Daily Mirror, and a daughter of Edward Vaughan Kenely, who spent his fortune and many years of his life in the defence of Arthur Orton, the notorious Tichborne claimant. This was not Miss Kenely's first dramatic attempt at suicide. In January, 1910, she drank poison in the Daily Mail office after an unsuccessful suit against the owner of that paper, Lord Northcliffe, for dismissal from the staff.

It was strongly hinted at the time that she had no real intention of committing suicide, but took the poison in an effort to win public notice and favor. It was recalled at that time that she had threatened to commit suicide on previous occasions.

Alexander Kenely was formerly on the staff of the New York Herald and he was correspondent for that paper on Peary's first arctic expedition. In 1895 he joined the staff of the New York World. He was war correspondent with the American fleet in the Spanish-American war. From 1901 to 1904 he was news editor of the London Daily Express. In 1904 he joined the Daily Mirror. He was the author of several books.

Iron Cross in Walden.

One of the famous Iron Crosses given by the Kaiser to his soldiers and sailors for bravery has been received by Charles Bennett, an employee of the Rider-Erickson Engine Works in Walden, from his brother in Birmingham, England. The cross was one of the five taken from dead German soldiers by a Britisher. Another brother of Bennett, a lieutenant in the First Regiment, Royal Fusiliers, was killed in action at the Dardanelles.

Team in Hard Luck.

According to Newburgh papers, the jinx which has followed the academy football team all season has again made its appearance. Bobby McDonald, field pilot, who had a prominent part in the team's victory against Middletown last Saturday, has quit school, and the eleven is hard up for a quarterback for the game with Kingston High School on Saturday.

Embler May Be Named.

A. S. Embler a Walden attorney and a prominent Democrat of the town of Montgomery is the latest man to be mentioned as a probable appointee of District Attorney-elect Henry Hirschberg, to the office of Assistant District Attorney of Orange county.

SUPERVISORS DINE AT THE STUYVESANT

With Capt. Woolsey as Toastmaster.

They Express Their Appreciation of Generations of Winne Hospitality.

The turkey dinner tendered by Mrs. James S. Winne, president of the Ulster County Hotel Company, to the members of the board of supervisors at The Stuyvesant Hotel on Thursday afternoon was one of the most notable ever given in Kingston. The dinner was faultlessly served in the customary manner of the hotel, and the entire affair will be long remembered by everyone who was privileged to be present. Two long tables were arranged for the guests and the table decorations or ferns, smilax and chrysanthemums, were arranged with an artistic taste that attracted admiration.

At the close of the dinner, at the request of his colleagues, Supervisor Woolsey acted as toastmaster and in expressing the sincere thanks of the board to Mrs. Winne for her hospitality and the compliment she had paid to them, he spoke interestingly in a reminiscent strain of the earlier hotel life in Kingston.

Supervisor Woolsey said he could state without fear of contradiction that he was the oldest member of the board, and had served as a supervisor at an earlier day than any of the members of the present board. During all the subsequent years business had called him to Kingston at least once a week and he had become intimately acquainted with the Winne family and their ability as hotel managers. At first the Eagle Hotel had been managed by the late Henry W. Winne, then by the late Benjamin J. Winne, and after that by the late James S. Winne, who later associated Alonzo E. Winne with him. When it became necessary to erect a new hotel in Kingston, the Winnes naturally took over its management and conducted it in a manner to make its reputation widespread so that strangers from afar as well as all Ulster county folks naturally came to The Stuyvesant. All that had been accomplished in the past was now being accomplished by Mrs. Winne, whose ability everyone recognized.

In closing, Toastmaster Woolsey spoke in terms of glowing praise of the late James S. Winne, whose abundant cheerfulness and ever ready willingness to oblige marked him apart from other men for tender remembrance.

Words of highest praise were spoken by all the subsequent speakers in regard to The Stuyvesant and its success under Mrs. Winne's management. Supervisor Schantz, in speaking of the parting which must come shortly when the present board would pass out of existence, said it had been his experience that the friendships formed during sessions of the board were lasting. In his experience as a supervisor he had been impressed by the stalwart character of the men elected to the board from the towns and the city wards. Men might have their differences politically or in regard to details that arose, but in the final analysis the board was always more than 90 percent square, and whatever work was to be done was undertaken by the supervisors heartily and with a determination to have it accomplished to the best of their ability.

Supervisor Vanderlyn, referring to Supervisor Schantz's statement that he was not a speechmaker, and it reminded him of the days when County Chairman Philip Elting had told the young fellows that he didn't know how to make a speech, but greatly to his surprise he had visited Highland at a recent celebration there and found that Mr. Elting was making the speech of the day and talking as if he had been accustomed to speaking all his life. Perhaps the Highland speech was prompted, however, by the nature of the celebration, which was in honor of the opening of a highway, whose construction anywhere in the state could have been obtained by only one man, and that man was the supervisor of the town.

An occasion of this kind was one to be long cherished in memory, because no matter what differences supervisors might have in regard to the way in which their work should be done, when they gathered together at a dinner like this, all prejudices were put away and the good fellowship which filled every supervisor's heart was manifested.

Supervisor Schermerhorn said anyone who accused him of flattery would be speaking lightly; it was not flattery, but merely truth he uttered when he stated that in his four years' experience in the board he had found that all the members, no matter how they appeared to differ, were working together for the best interests of the county and produced good results.

Supervisor Frattner in speaking of Mrs. Winne's care of the board or supervisors for many years, said she had long ago learned to know the good boys from the bad ones, but she forgave them for all their pranks and they all joined in wishing her the happiness she so richly deserved.

Supervisor A. W. Thompson said he had been asked after being elected supervisor whether he was not going down from the office of mayor, which he had held, but his experience had taught him he was going up, and it had been very apparent that though the political complexion of a town might change, over them and that in her care they each party in each town always was striving to put forward the best and that only in this way would the best results be obtained.

Philip Elting, referring to the statement of one of the preceding year that political faith they came, as

GEN. VON BISSING.
RECALLED TEUTON GENERAL WHO ORDERED SHOOTING OF BRITISH NURSE.

This is the latest photograph to reach this country of Gen. von Bissing, the German Military Governor of Belgium, who, it is reported, has been recalled to Berlin by the Kaiser, to explain in person, his reasons for refusing to grant a sufficient reprieve for an appeal of the death sentence imposed upon Edith Cavell, the British nurse, executed as a spy.

Speakers in regard to his relationship to the board said he did not know what that relationship was, but that it was something of which he could feel proud. The board was made up of partisans during campaigns, when men well qualified to carry on the county's business. The speech he had made at Highland, to which Mr. Vanderlyn had referred, had been the effort of his life, and he had made it because he had been born in the town of Lloyd and was proud of it. He recalled that when he first came to Kingston as a law clerk, Supervisor Schantz had just been elected supervisor for the first time, and had been made a member of the equalization committee, which was an unusual thing for a first-term member. Ever since then Mr. Schantz had been a member of that committee. The subject of county government in New York state was most interesting. Immediately after the Revolutionary War county organizations were formed throughout the state, and the government then organized in Ulster, which was one of the ten original counties of the state, had been maintained ever since through the board of supervisors. The late constitutional convention had thought that counties might wish to change their government to the commission form, which had been adopted in some parts of the west, and had put in the proposed constitution a clause giving each county the right to determine what form it would have. He was inclined to believe that the defeat of the constitution might have been brought about by that clause because the counties had found that government through a board of supervisors was a success. Criticisms can always be made of something, but in an honor. It was impossible for a man to come to the board unless he was a good decent man. During an election where they were many candidates, it might be possible for an unworthy person to be elected, but among his neighbors a man must be known for his good qualities before he can be elected to the board of supervisors. To have their respect and confidence to that extent should be gratifying to any man. In conclusion, Toastmaster Woolsey paid a high tribute both to Mrs. Winne and the late Mr. Winne.

Vienna—Austrian aviators again made successful attack upon Venice and Italian forts of San Nicolo and Albion.

STREET FORCE CHANGE COMING

The office of superintendent of street will be abolished the first of the year when the new city charter goes into effect and Mayor Canfield under the new charter will appoint a board of public works who will have full charge of the streets, sewers and lighting of the city. The board will appoint a superintendent who will have charge of the actual work. At the present time the members of the street department force are hired by the street superintendent who selects the men from a civil service list submitted to him by the civil service board. As the office of street superintendent will be no more after January 1, it means that the present street force will likely be officially discharged. This does not mean that the street force will be permanently discharged but the work of engaging laborers will be under the control of the board of public works, who will undoubtedly retain all of the present members of the street department force. Just who will form the new board of public works is not known and it is not likely that Mayor Canfield will make known his appointments until the first of the year. The present street superintendent has filed the office acceptably and it would not be at all surprising if he was retained as superintendent by the new board to be appointed by the mayor.

To Extend Electric Service.

At a meeting of the Saugerties Business Men's Association on Tuesday night, a resolution was adopted extending electric service to the Kingston Gas & Electric Co., holder of the Saugerties franchise. He said that a survey of the desired route had been made, and a map prepared and the same filed in the county clerk's office, and that on Saturday at special term of supreme court in Kingston, the company's attorney will ask for the appointment of a commission to assess damages for rights of way over the properties of Washburn Bros. Co., Empire Brick & Supply Co., and Alpha Brick and Holding Co., at lower Glasco. This completed, the company would provide day service as requested.

Undecided About Second Trial.

District Attorney J. D. Wilson, Jr., of Orange county says he has not yet decided on a second trial for Domenico Sacumano, indicted for the murder of Omar Hotelling, West Shore Railroad operator, at Highland Falls on the night of March 17 last. ## NEW YORK GALE 68 MILES AN HOUR

East Wind Makes a New Record in the Metropolis, Blowing Ship From Mooring and Tying up Harbor Traffic.

New York, Nov. 19.—A gale with a record east wind struck New York today, causing death and destruction. The wind blew 68 miles an hour, the previous record for wind from the east being 62 miles.

A schoolgirl in Brooklyn, blinded by the rain which was blown into her face, was run over by a street car and killed. Many men and women were hurt. In downtown New York, where the buildings are high and the wind reaches its greatest force in the narrow streets, many persons were blown from their feet. The steamship Corozal, of the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company was blown from her moorings and collided with the Greek freighter Andreas.

The air was thick with fog and rain and traffic in the harbor and rivers was at a standstill.

Ulster Lumber Co. Wins.

In deciding the complaint of the Ulster Lumber Co. against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad involving a shipment of lumber from the south to New York state, the Interstate Commerce Commission says the railroad should permit the re-consignment and diversion of carload shipments of lumber to Danbury, N. Y., from Cincinnati, Ohio.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, Nov. 18.—Daughters of America held a very interesting meeting Wednesday evening. They nominated officers and other business of importance was brought up. These people will have a masquerade in the near future. The election of officers will take place at their regular meeting in December.

Several from this place motored to New Paltz Tuesday evening and attended the recital given by Miss Ruth Deyo. Everyone was delighted with her playing.

Miss Rowell of Long Island, who was at one time a resident of this place, was married recently to a Mr. Smith of New York city. Friends extend their congratulations to the couple.

Mrs. Andrew Upright was a shopper in Poughkeepsie this week.

Mrs. Edward Rhoades spent Tuesday in Poughkeepsie, guest of relatives.

Miss Fannie Bond of White street entertained friends from Milton for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller were host and hostess for Saturday and Sunday to relatives from New Paltz, Newburgh and Kingston.

Mrs. Blakely entertained the members of the Music Study Club at her home on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burgess had as their guest this week Mrs. Edna Elting of New York city, who at one time resided here. She is a sister of Mrs. Burgess.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Browne and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Charles LeFever left last week for Florida for the winter and when the blue birds arrive in the spring the most of these people will arrive in Highland on the Hudson and spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean De Redon have the honor of a new boarder. We have it may find its new quarters at attractive and that it will remain for years to come. Mrs. De Redon was Miss Gertrude Peeter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Peeter. These people feel elated to be called grandpa and grandma. The De Redons reside in New Rochelle.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Upright have had as their guest for the week end Miss F. Livingston of Cantonale.

Alfred Palmer spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Palmer. He returned to New Jersey on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oldfield of West Point were visitors of friends here the past week.

Ward Bunting, who was at one time employed in store of W. E. Wilcox and Son, is now clerking for a New Paltz firm and is well pleased.

Frank Palmer was in New York recently.

Dr. F. C. Furlong of Poughkeepsie spent last Sunday here with his parents. He is located in North Clover street, and has a fine practice.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Colyer of Vineyard avenue have been entertaining friends from Flushing, L. I., the past week.

Corsie Gussales and O. Ingraham were in Kingston last Tuesday evening and attended a banquet given by the Knights of Pythias. They report a fine time.

Mr. Burton, the new wire chief, will occupy the flat in the Edison Dimsey house on North Road. He will soon bring his wife and child here.

Mrs. H. Schumacher of Brooklyn has been spending some time here as the guest of her people on Vineyard avenue.

Mr. M. Adams is at present dividing her time between Highland and New London, Conn. Her new home there will soon be finished.

Orange S. Ingraham was in New York city last week for a few days. Some of us think these trips to the city so often look suspicious, but he informs us they are business calls.

Services were held in the Episcopal Church last Sunday for the first in several months. The interior has been renovated by Poughkeepsie parties and looks fine. The regular services will be held from now on. Seats free, and everyone is welcome.

The Inside of the Hotel

Is the part that counts with the guest. The architect doesn't make a hotel, he only designs it. The builder doesn't make a hotel, he only builds it.

Don't select your stopping place from the outside. Look behind the front wall and see what is back of it.

The success of the Hotel Martinique is the personality back of it, which shows in the lobby, at the desk, in the restaurants and in the rooms.

The telephone attendants, the mail clerks, the room maids, even the bellboys reflect the personality back of the "House of Taylor." We don't preach prices only. We have pleasant, homelike rooms from $1.50 up.

In one and all you will find reflected the careful and insistent idea of guest-service that dominates every moment of your stay.

Located in the Heart of Things, only a golf stroke from the Pennsylvania Depot. On Broadway's throbbing centre. The Martinique is the logical New York home for those on business or pleasure bent.

CAREFUL DENTISTRY

Carefulness is the first requisite to painless dental work, but there are many cases where it is necessary to use something to deaden the nerve of the tooth to be operated on. Science has at last produced a preparation with which we are able to fill, crown or remove the nerve from extra sensitive teeth without pain.

When defective, useless, decaying teeth must be replaced by new ones, the substitutes we furnish are so natural that they defy detection. Fit and harmony are so perfect that nature is not only counterfeited, but improved upon.

KINGSTON, N. Y., NOV. 19, 1915.

The Republican leaders of the Legislature soon to convene appear to be unanimously in favor of undertaking the amendment of our State Constitution piecemeal, making a beginning by passing concurrent resolutions next winter proposing several important changes. These resolutions must necessarily be passed by the succeeding Legislature in order to get them before the people. It is understood that the proposition to be first taken up will provide for the reorganization of the State Government for the purpose of doing away with duplication of services, for budget reform, and for the substitution of serial bonds for the present fifty-year bonds. If this plan is carried through—and we have no doubt it will be—there can hardly be any question as to the defeat of the proposition to hold another Constitutional Convention, which must be submitted to the people next November. It is now clear to all that no new Constitution which is of real value can be passed as a whole. Such a document hits too many grafters and holders of sinecures. The State of New York has no more need of Constitutional Conventions than has the United States.

The big war itself with all its horrors has caused excitement scarcely more intense than that which a lot of editors, clergymen and doctors are exhibiting over the incident of a surgeon in a Chicago hospital refusing to save the life of a newly-born infant because the necessary operation would condemn it to a career as a repulsive idiot. We feel no call to enter at this particular time into an argument over a question which is as old as the world. The animals as a rule do not raise any deformed or idiotic progeny, and consequently must kill them or let them die for want of care when very young. This has also always or nearly always been the practice with savage or barbarous races of mankind. It has also prevailed among the most civilized. Aristotle and Plato—those great and respected thinkers—advocated the destruction of unfit infants. There is a good deal of this today, we are convinced, but it does not occur in public hospitals, and so does not get into the papers. We feel justified in making the assertion that all the sentiment there is against the practice referred to has its source in the Christian Church. Farrar in his "Life of Christ," says significantly: "Infanticide of a deeper dye than this of Herod's was a crime dreadfully rare in the days of the Empire." If a vote were to be taken on the question what our law should say on this point, we imagine that the opponents would be the devout church-goers on one side and the rest of the people on the other.

Secretary James B. Reynolds, of the Republican National Committee, who recently has made a tour of Western States, "found a general movement back to the party in all States visited. The rank and file of those who followed Col. Roosevelt in 1912 are again in the Republican fold and it is the general belief among the close political friends of the former President that he will support the nominee of the Republican convention." The Republican party today is more progressive than the Progressive party was when Roosevelt founded it. A more equitable method of apportioning seats in Congress, as contended for in vain by the Roosevelt men in the Chicago convention three years ago, has been provided for by the National Committee. Any reasons which Roosevelt may have had originally for dissatisfaction with the Republican party have been removed. There remains nothing for him to do except return to the party of Lincoln and McKinley as his erstwhile followers have done. With Republicans united and harmonious, the success of the party in presidential and congressional elections next year will be assured, and tariff legislation by friends and upholders of American industry and labor will follow, resulting in the restoration of normal business conditions throughout the country.

A war relief commission with headquarters in New York city has issued an appeal, which it says is urgent, for shoes, clothing and supplies for two and a half or three million persons in Belgium and the war-swept section of France. The plight of these people with winter approaching is declared to be pitiable. Nothing is said about food being needed and the assumption is that there is an ample supply for the present, though Americans will not be surprised if they are asked during the winter to make up large funds to keep war refugees from starving. The present appeal follows by a few days announcement of a levy of $8,000,000 a month on Belgium by its German governor-general. Apparently the idea is to wring from the country every dollar it may possess or get possession of, regardless of the needs of the inhabitants, whose land has been laid waste and industries closed, and leave to the people of neutral countries the task of feeding and clothing the unfortunate. Does humanity require neutral countries to stand for this outrage? What kind of charity is it which in effect merely swells the German war fund?

Not only are the United States "war" taxes to continue, but new imposts are contemplated. A tax on bank checks is the latest scheme. Some bright statesman of Democratic persuasion may come forward before Congress convenes next month with a proposal for a penny tax on bread. Come to think of it, there are many things untaxed that might be taxed—that is, if the end of business and life is taxation. While state, county and municipal officials devote themselves earnestly to a consideration of the problem of limiting expenditures in order if possible to keep taxes from rising or to lighten them, the Democratic federal administration invents new plans and devices to separate the people from their money to make up extravagant expenditures of the past few years and provide for real needs which now must be taken care of. Taxation will be one of the biggest issues in next year's campaign.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Nov. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Plaus of Kingston have been spending a few days at the home of her relatives in The Clove. Mrs. George Holmes has been visiting relatives in Poughkeepsie. There was a basketball game at the B. W. S. Hall on Monday evening, between the Crescent Five of High Falls and the Colonial Five of Kingston. The High Falls team were victorious, the score being in their favor. There was dancing after the game. Quite a number were present.

The people occupying the house of William Fitzpatrick are to move to the city.

Ernest LeFever and lady friend, Miss Edna Davenport, of Accord were out driving on Sunday afternoon.

Jesse Williams has accepted a position at White Plains. There will be an entertainment in the basement of the Methodist Church on Friday evening, Nov. 26th. Admission to the play, twenty cents. After the entertainment a penny lunch will be served. It is most cordially invited to come and spend a social evening.

Mrs. James Freer, who has been visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Devlin of New York city, returned home on Wednesday morning.

Andrew Brodhead, a former resident of this place died at his home in Wallkill on Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The funeral was held from his late residence on Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment in Rosendale Plains.

Mrs. George LeFever, who has been away visiting friends, has returned home. Edward Dyer has been to Briarcliff to visit his father, who has been very sick.

Miss Elizabeth Krom is visiting friends at Eureka. Chester Dyer of Seafield, Pa., recently visited at the home of his father.

Missionary meeting was held at the home of Mrs. John B. Snyder on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There were six present.

Miss Inez Gray, who has spent some time with relatives at Middletown, has returned home.

Three deer were seen in the village on Thursday of this week.

HIGH WOODS.
 High Woods, Nov. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Irving Lasher of Pearsville spent Sunday with her mother.

Charles Braby has a sick horse. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis York entertained company on Sunday.

John C. Van Allen and daughter are spending some time in Yonkers, being called there by the illness of his son.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Has that borrowing friend of yours dropped out of sight?" "Oh, no; he manages to keep in touch with me."—Baltimore American.
 After the Elopement.—She—"I am telegraphing to papa asking forgiveness." He (broke). "Better make it 'forgiveness and funds.'"—Boston Transcript.
 "You say you can't pay this bill, and yet I see you riding around every day in an automobile." "My dear fellow, that's the reason."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"I wish you to find out who that homely woman is." "Nothing doing, my dear. She'd prove to be the sister or wife of the first person I asked."—Detroit Free-Press.
 "Europe used to set the fashions for the world." "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne; "but the fashions of one decade become the horrible examples of the next."—Washington Herald.

Native—"That's Eph Haskins over there. Son of the man that put our town on the map." Visitor—"How did he do it?" Native—"Made it a special point to go to New York to die, and the papers there had, right out plain under the death notice, 'Bungtown papers please copy.'"—Puck.

Knew the Country.
 In certain sections of West Virginia there is no liking for automobiles, as was evidenced in the case of a Washingtonian who was motoring in a sparsely settled region of the state. This gentleman, according to Lippencott's, was hailed before a local magistrate upon the complaint of a constable. The magistrate, a good-natured man, was not, however, absolutely certain that the Washingtonian's car had been driven too fast, and the owner stoutly insisted that he had been miles an hour. "Why, your honor," he said, "my engine was out of order, and I was going very slowly, because I was afraid it would break down completely. I give you my word, sir, you could have walked as fast as I was running." "Well," said the magistrate, after due reflection, "you don't appear to have been exceeding the speed limit, but at the same time you must have been guilty of something, or you wouldn't be here. I fine you $10 for loitering."

Plenty to Watch.

Two maid servants met on their afternoon out.
 "Hallo, Lizzie!" cried one. "I haven't seen you lately. Where are you now?"
 "Got a situation in Mudhurst," replied the other coolly.
 "In Mudhurst? Isn't it awfully slow there?"
 "Slow?" replied the second girl. "The house I'm in is at a cross-road; there's a church at the next corner, a fire station right opposite, and a police station at the fourth corner. Yesterday there was a grand funeral at the church, the fire brigade was called out three times, and two men were run in by the police, all in one day. And the couple I'm living with are always quarreling. No, I shouldn't call it slow!"—Answers.

A Washington man has in his employ a faithful, but at times, stupid servant in the person of an old dorky named Zeke.
 Recently, when the employer had vainly endeavored to get something done in a certain way, he gave up in despair, exclaiming:
 "Zeke! Zeke! Whatever do you think your head is for?"
 Zeke, who evidently thought that this was another of the troublesome questions that his employer was always asking, pondered it deeply. Finally he replied:
 "Well, boss, I guess it's to keep my collar on."—New York Times.

KRUMVILLE.

Krumville, Nov. 19.—Benjamin Merriew and daughter Anna and Lulu are enjoying a trip to Bermuda and expect to be gone two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Donohew and family visited Jervis Burgher on Sunday.

The hunters, who were stopping with Mrs. Mary Dubois, returned home at New York on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lyons spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Owens.

Harry Krum has returned home, after spending the summer at Lake Placid, where he had employment.

The funeral of Granville Boice was held at the Krumville Church on Monday at 11 o'clock. He was formerly of Sansonville, but made his home with his daughter at Kingston for the past couple of months. Interment in the Krumville cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis and children visited at Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Christiansen's on Sunday.

Mrs. Benjamin Davis had a operation at home on Monday. Dr. Hutchins attended her, also another doctor from Kingston and a nurse. We all hope for her speedy recovery.

FINE, BIG FOOD VALUES AT Planthaber's Saturday

Watch Out for Our Thanksgiving Sale, Wednesday, Nov. 24.

We believe that this market's position as one of Kingston's principal distributing centers for the finest lines of Groceries, Provisions and Meats has been materially strengthened this fall, which means that values in all kinds of goods, usually superior as compared with equal grades elsewhere, are relatively greater now—not in single instances only, but in the sum total of day-after-day shopping. To put it another way, the family which requires large quantities of Groceries and Meats the year round will find here big, worth while savings. Scan Saturday's special offerings, for instance.

HEALTH OFFICERS' SALARIES TOO HIGH

Board of Supervisors Opposed to Law Fixing a Minimum Salary—Various Resolutions Introduced.

The board of supervisors on Thursday evening expressed itself in favor of an amendment to the Public Health Law under which the towns are now required to pay larger salaries to their local health officers than formerly. Section 27 of the law relates to the power and compensation of local health officers, and requires that the salary of the health officer shall not be less than ten cents for each name of each inhabitant of the town. This minimum salary has resulted in an increase in the salaries of the health officers, and a resolution introduced at Thursday evening's session pronounces it unwise and extravagant. In the opinion of the board the law should be amended so as to allow city or town officers to agree with health officers in regard to their compensation without statutory limitation. Copies of the resolution were therefore directed to be sent to the senator and assemblymen-elect from Ulster county, with request to use every effort to secure an amendment to the law, and the county attorney was instructed to transmit copies of the resolution to other boards of supervisors throughout the state.

The resolution was offered by Supervisor Woolsey, and on motion of Supervisor Vanderlyn was adopted unanimously.

Resolutions for Town Matters.

The following resolutions were introduced and went over under the rule.

By Supervisor McElhone, that $250 be raised on the Walkkill fire district for fire purposes.

By Supervisor McElhone, that $1,500 be raised on the Walkkill water district for water purposes.

By Supervisor McElhone, that $750 be raised on the Walkkill light district to pay for street lighting.

By Supervisor Schoonmaker, that $845 be raised on the Napanoch lighting district to pay for street lighting.

By Supervisor Callahan, that $104 be raised on the town of Kingston to pay bond and interest falling due.

By Supervisor Woolsey, that $420.42 and the further sum of $412.24 be raised on the town of Marlborough to pay two notes held by the First National Bank of Marlborough for the benefit of the poor fund.

By Supervisor Woolsey, that $1,286.85 be raised on the town of Marlborough to pay bond issued for road machinery.

By Supervisor Woolsey, that $42.60 be raised on the town of Marlborough to pay interest on note held by Sands Haviland.

By Supervisor Vanderlyn, that $22 be raised on the town of New Paltz to pay state road bond and interest.

By Supervisor Vanderlyn, that $1,150 be raised on the town of New Paltz to pay state road bond and interest.

By Supervisor C. H. Schoonmaker, that $2,675 be raised on the town of Esopus to pay bridge bond and interest.

By Supervisor C. H. Schoonmaker, that $580 be raised on the town of Esopus to pay final installment on purchase of steam roller.

By Supervisor Schantz, that $1,250 be raised on the town of Lloyd to pay interest on bond issued for Road No. 354.

By Supervisor Schantz, that $3,000 be raised on the town of Lloyd to pay bond issued for Road No. 354.

By Supervisor Frasher, that $1,420 be raised on the town of Saugerties to pay Saugerties-Woodstock road bond.

Resolutions Called Up.

The following resolutions heretofore introduced, were called up and adopted.

By Supervisor Schantz, that $2,600 be raised on the Highland lighting district to pay for street lighting.

By Supervisor Schantz, that $1,600 be raised on the Highland fire district for fire purposes.

By Supervisor Simpkins, that $511.58 be raised on the town of Woodstock to pay note and interest.

By Supervisor C. H. Schoonmaker, that $728 be raised on the town of Esopus to pay certificate and interest for town building.

By Supervisor Haynes, that $1,429.65 be raised on the town of Hardenbergh to pay bond and interest.

On motion of Supervisor Vanderlyn, the board adjourned until Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Equalization Committee Meets Monday.

Chairman Schantz gave notice that the equalization committee will meet at the supervisors' rooms on Monday afternoon at three o'clock.

MYSTERIOUS STRANGER.

After Frightening Residents by His Harsh Acts he Disappears.

The mysterious stranger who has been haunting the vicinity of Lawrence street, Cottage Row and Delaware avenue for the past few weeks has suddenly disappeared and is no longer seen in that locality. The stranger, made his appearance some time ago and would spend the evenings walking up and down from 6 o'clock to 11 o'clock at night. While he did not speak to any one his continual appearance between these hours gradually frightened the girls in that vicinity although the stranger made no effort to molest or speak to them. It was said that sometimes he would be seen going into the woods and there amusing himself by testing the lower limbs of the trees to see if they would bear his weight. Descriptions as to his appearance vary. Finally some of the residents in that vicinity decided to inform the police and have an officer sent down to ascertain from the stranger what his intentions were but his sudden disappearance from the scene prevented such action being taken.

Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the organization, has denied the charges made recently and says everything will be explained.

Sees Golden Way to Steak.

The road to a beefsteak soon "lit up," will have to be paved with gold," predicts Professor W. A. Cochel, of the Kansas State Agricultural College. The demand for meats soon will be the greatest in history, and the supply the smallest, he says.

Victimizes Poughkeepsie.

Posing as a representative of Fred Geltrich, a custom tailor at 207 Main street, Poughkeepsie, J. Gold, alias Gus Burman alias J. Goldberg, organizer of a "suit club" left town suddenly with $200 of Poughkeepsie money.

Take "Movies" of Milk Plant.

Patrons of the movies will soon have a chance of seeing the process of making condensed milk as it is carried out in the Borden Plant between Walden and Walkkill. Three operators have been engaged in taking a series of views of the interior of the plant.

Snow on Top of Cars.

The top of all cars on trains from the north and west on the New York Central and West Shore, passing down the Hudson early Wednesday morning were covered with snow. This is the first time this season that snow has appeared on the cars.

Committed to Institution.

Superintendent Thomas H. Edmonston returned on Thursday evening from Rome, N. Y., where he had taken Freeman Mulligan, an 11 years old boy, who had been committed to the state institution at that place at the request of the mother, who resides on Forthall avenue.

PLAN TO LICENSE ALL FISHERMEN

Combination Hunting and Fishing Permit for $1.10 Proposed by Conservation Commissioner Pratt.

The licensing of fishermen will be asked at the next session of the legislature in Albany by the Conservation Commission. Licenses for fishermen have been a subject of consideration for sportsmen during several years and now announcement comes from Albany that Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt will ask the coming legislature to change the hunting license law to include fishermen, a combination hunting and fishing license being issued at the present price of the former—$1.10. The fact that fish protection and propagation costs just as much as game protection and that the state should derive an income from its fish, is the purpose of the license. It is believed that many thousand dollars would be returned to the state by persons who fish, but do not hunt and are not affected by the present regulation.

The matter is one to which Commissioner Pratt has given much study and it is his belief that the great majority of fishermen will be perfectly willing to take out such a license. He points out that by so doing it will be made possible for the sportsman to keep his gun in camp as well as his rods without fear of trouble with the game protector, and he believes that many a camper will be glad of the opportunity to use a gun for target practice, for the shooting of troublesome prowlers about the camp and for personal protection. No fear is expressed that the possession of the gun may lead to out-of-the-season shooting any more than possession of a rod will lead to fishing out of season.

The New York State Fish, Game and Forest League has advocated a fishing-hunting license for several seasons. The law would not, of course, prevent an owner from hunting or fishing on his own land.

COUNTY ALMS HOUSE

VERY SATISFACTORY

Inspector For State Board of Charities Finds Little to Suggest For Betterment of Institution As Managed by Superintendent Van Orden.

The satisfactory condition of the Ulster County Alms House at New Paltz, under the management of County Superintendent of the Poor Cornelius L. Van Orden leaves but little room either for criticism or suggestions by inspectors of the State Board of Charities, as appears by the report of inspection by Inspector Molly W. Anderson, which was transmitted to the board of supervisors Wednesday night.

Description of the County House.
The report shows that the alms house has a capacity for 60 men and 25 women—a total capacity for 85 inmates.

The buildings are described in the report as follows:
The Ulster County Alms House is pleasantly located on a level site about three miles from the village of New Paltz. The buildings for inmates consist of three brick structures, each three stories and a basement in height and connected at the rear by glass covered passageways. The women's dormitory is on the left end and that of the men on the right, while the central building is used for administrative purposes and as a residence for the keeper.

The men's dormitory is much older than the rest of the plant and reflects its age in badly worn floors, poor ventilation facilities and a gloomy interior.

Directly behind the administration building and connected with it by a covered corridor, is the laundry building and heating plant. The farm buildings are scattered over a wide area. They include a hay barn and horse stable, corn house, tool house, hog pen, hen house, slaughter house, carpenter and blacksmith shop, cow barn, ice house and an unoccupied post house.

These buildings are for the most part in good repair and with the exception of the horse stable and general barn are comparatively new.

Improvements—Practically no improvements other than the ordinary repairs have been made to the plant and equipment since the last inspection. The construction of a sho is contemplated.

Fire Protection—The women's building is equipped with suitable exterior iron fire escapes easy of access but no exterior escapes are provided on the men's building although two-thirds of the inmate population is housed there. The second floor of this building contains the men's infirmary and the only means of egress for patients is through a narrow wooden stairway or through a window to the sloping roof, which is unprotected by a guard rail. The latter could not safely be used by sick and infirm inmates.

Standpipes with fifty-foot lengths of hose attached, are located on each floor and chemical extinguishers are plentifully distributed throughout the various buildings. The water supply is furnished from a reservoir near Lake Mohonk and comes under good pressure (110 pounds). Eleven hydrants located at different points on the grounds, and two mounted reels of hose sufficient in length to reach all of the buildings furnish outside protection.

Working Equipment—The buildings are heated by steam. The water supply comes from the reservoir near Lake Mohonk and the pressure is utilized to generate electricity for lighting purposes. Sewage passes into a creek behind the buildings and ultimately into the Wallkill creek. The power laundry has a concrete floor and the equipment includes rotary washer, extractor and mangle. The extractor should be screened for the protectives of the operatives.

Pound Two Soiled Pillow Cases.

Hygiene and Sanitation—The buildings were clean and generally good throughout at the time of inspection. Springs, beds with pads or mattresses are used. Beds were well made and comfortable and the bed clothing clean with one or two exceptions in the men's building where two soiled pillow cases were noted. Bed linen is changed weekly and the weekly bathing of all inmates under supervision is required. Toilet and bathing facilities, the latter including both tub and shower, are adequate, and the plumbing is in good condition. Roller towels are used in the lavatories. For sanitary reasons these should be replaced by individual towels. Soiled clothing and linen is promptly removed to the laundry, and in the case of the sick is usually disinfected and put through the washer last. Clean clothing is stored in suitable closets and is individualized.

What If They Have No Extra Outer Clothing?

Owing to the fact that there are no separate hospital facilities with the exception of two small rooms in the men's building, the sick are necessarily scattered throughout the dormitories, making it impossible to close and properly air these rooms during the day, and adding considerably to the work of keeping them clean and in order. Ventilated lockers are needed in the men's building for inmates' outer clothing which now in many instances litters the rooms.

Thinks Hospital is Needed.

Care of the Sick—The greatest need of the institution is for the erection of a separate hospital building. Two small connecting rooms on the second floor of the men's building are used as an infirmary. These rooms are poorly ventilated and lack modern equipment. They are situated directly over the kitchen and bakery, are excessively warm in summer and are frequently filled with the odors of cooking. Moreover, as previously noted in this report, they are made unsafe from the standpoint of fire risk. On the day of inspection the infirmary was filled to its capacity; one of the rooms contained five beds and the other six, and all of the beds were occupied. In a single room near by which was dark and improperly ventilated was an advanced case of tuberculosis. Other sick men in need of hospital care occupied beds in the various dormitories. Among the number were certain cases which should properly have been segregated. Sick men are cared for by a male attendant, who has had nine years of practical experience.

In the women's dormitory a better condition exists owing to the fact that this building is of more modern construction and from a standpoint of lighting and ventilation is more satisfactory. But as no infirmary ward is available, sick women have to be cared for in their rooms, by other inmates under the supervision of the matron.

This enforced distribution of the sick throughout the various portions of the buildings prevents the proper ventilation of the dormitories during the day, increases the danger of infection and renders adequate care and supervision difficult. The present situation is serious and is only to be relieved through the erection of a separate hospital building, modern in design and equipment.

The visiting physician is Dr. M. E. Stevens, who resides four miles distant and visits the institution two or three times a week or when summoned. A record of patients treated is kept.

Experienced Cook and Good Food.

The Kitchen and Dietary—The kitchen is located on the first floor of the men's building. It has a concrete floor and is screened. The cooking equipment seems to be adequate. Food is prepared by an experienced cook. Suitable cold storage facilities are available and the entire service division was characterized by cleanliness and order. Separate dining rooms are provided for the men and women. New white oilcloth is needed on the tables to replace that in present use, which is stained and badly worn.

The meals served to inmates on the day of inspection were as follows:

Tea Biscuits
that you could make a whole meal of

Presto FLOUR
Very easy: 2 cups Presto Flour, 2 table-spoons butter, 1 cup milk. Work the butter into the Presto and mix slowly with milk. Presto. Cut small. Bake 12 to 15 minutes. Get your Presto Flour the first thing tomorrow and notice the recipes in and on the package.

The H-O Company, Buffalo, N.Y. Makers of H-O, Force, and Presto.

Breakfast—Oatmeal, bread and butter, coffee.
Dinner—Vegetable stew with pork, bread and butter, coffee.
Supper—Onions, bread and butter, milk, tea.

Your inspector witnessed the serving of the supper. The food was properly cooked and the inmates expressed satisfaction with the dietary. The dinner menu is varied by different kinds of meat throughout the week, and fresh vegetables in abundance are furnished from the garden. Butter is served three times a day. Special diets are prepared for the sick.

Statistics.

The Census—The census of the institution on the day of inspection was as follows: Number of inmates—male, 58; female, 21; total, 79. Classification of defectives—Blind, male, 3; total, 3. Deaf mutes, none. Feeble minded persons and idiots—male, 6; female, 8; total, 14. Epileptics, none.

Records—The state board of charities record of inmates is maintained. The last entry was No. 539 and bore the date of April 20, 1915. County and town poor are distinguished. Since the last inspection, September 18, 1914, sixteen deaths, eleven male and five female, have occurred at the almshouse, and there have been no births during the period.

Officers and Employees—A list of the officers and employees of the institution together with the position and compensation of each is as follows:

Cornelius L. Van Orden, superintendent of the poor, $1,500 per year.
James W. Haines, keeper, $500 per year.

Mrs. James W. Haines, matron, $20 per month.

Miss Davis, housekeeper, $20 per month.

Benjamin Van Steinberg, cook, $25 per month.

John Russell, fireman, $15 per month.

Timothy Reardon, farmer, $25 per month.

Cyrus Briggs, farmer, $32 per month.

Carl Newper, laundryman, $15 per month.

James Flagler, hospital nurse, $40 per month.

Dr. M. E. Stephens, physician, $240 per year.

The Farm—The farm contains 210 acres of which about 150 acres are under cultivation. The live stock includes thirty cattle, six horses, twenty-eight pigs and about two hundred hens. The cow stable has concrete stands but lacks swinging stanchions.

Care of the Dead—A religious service is held at burial. Relatives where known are notified. Markers are furnished for graves on the county farm, and a record of burials is kept.

Administration—The non-resident superintendent of the poor visits the institution daily. Religious services are held at the alms house once a month.

Respectfully submitted,
MOLLY W. ANDERSON,
Inspector.

May 13, 1915.

Needs—The principal needs of the Ulster County Almshouse as indicated in the foregoing report are as follows:

1.—The erection of a separate hospital building, modern in design and equipment.

2.—Construction of an exterior iron platform fire escape on the men's building.

3.—Installation of lockers for men's outer clothing.

4.—The purchase of new white oilcloth for dining room tables.

5.—A wire screen over the top of the extractor for the protection of operatives.

6.—Use of individual towels in the lavatories.

Respectfully submitted,
MOLLY W. ANDERSON,
Inspector.

To the State Board of Charities, Albany, N. Y., May 13, 1915.

To Increase Capital Stock.

Mention recently was made in The Freeman of the filing in the office of the secretary of state in Albany of a certificate by the Poughkeepsie-Highland Ferry Co. of its intention to increase its capital stock from $25,000 to $100,000.

Samuel A. Crum, I. M. Crum and O. J. Norris, chief stockholders, now have joined in a petition to the Public Service Commission for permission to make the increase in stock. The present par value of the stock is $25 a share and if the petition for increase of capitalization is granted the par value of stock per share will be $100.

Kingston Teachers on Visit.

Miss Sadie Schutt and Miss Irene Goodell, two teachers in the grade schools of Kingston, were in Poughkeepsie on Wednesday making a tour of inspection of the public schools. The visitors were escorted by Superintendent S. R. Shear.

"The Kingston teachers found many things of interest to them in the modern and up-to-date methods of instruction in use in the schools here which will be of use to them in their work in the Colonial City," says the Poughkeepsie Enterprise.

Full Time In Knife Plant.

Commencing next Monday the New York Knife Works in Walden will operate on full time schedule.

is a splendidly balanced food that affords rich nourishment and, being partially pre-digested in making, exacts but small tax on the digestive organs.

Grape-Nuts retains all the nutriment of whole wheat and barley, including the mineral salts, phosphate of potash, etc., so necessary to proper nourishment, though notably lacking in white bread and many other foods.

A vast army of regular Grape-Nuts users can say from experience.

ULSTER LEADS IN PRODUCING BRICK

Ulster county leads by a large margin the counties of the state in the production of common brick. Figures for last year, compiled by the New York State Museum, show that 262,366,000 building brick were manufactured in this county last year, their value having been $895,126. The nearest approach to Ulster's production was by Rockland county, where 150,183,000 brick were manufactured. In no other county was the production above the hundred million mark. Of the Kingston district, a bulletin of the State Museum says: "The Kingston district extends along the river for a distance of about 12 miles, including the yards at Port Ewen, East Kingston, Glasco, Saugerties and Malden. The number of operations last year was 22. The available machine capacity is 2,000,000 a day. The yards in this district are mostly open and hand labor is used largely in excavating and tempering the clay. One company uses clay dragged from the river bed."

Fares to be Refunded.

The retention by the Ulster and Delaware railroad of cash fares collected from Fleischmanns to Kingston as a part of an interstate journey of two Pennsylvania ladies, was unlawful, according to a decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington. Miss Bertha Waper of Philadelphia complained that transportation charges for herself and a friend from Germantown to Fleischmanns and return were unreasonable. They were charged $1.25 extra, as the coupons from Fleischmanns to Kingston were missing from their tickets. The conductor died since the hearing of the complaint and his report showed only one coupon from each of the tickets involved from Kingston to Fleischmanns. The Commission has ordered the railroad to refund the ladies $2.50 for the overcharges.

To Make Highway Material.

C. Gordon Reel of Kingston and Frank B. Low and Peter H. Troy of Poughkeepsie as directors, have filed articles of incorporation of the New York Blackstone Company, formed to manufacture and sell the road material known as Blackstone, a rock preparation evolved by Mr. Reel for use on state roads chiefly, but also for use in many other forms of construction work. The company will also do road construction work, specializing in road surfacing. This road material is being manufactured at the company's plant at Cedarcliff, Ulster county, on the river directly opposite New Hamburg. It is a preparation of stone covered with asphalt.

Tuberculosis Week.

This year, instead of having one day—Tuberculosis Sunday—an entire week will be given over to the subject of Tuberculosis—opening on Monday, December 7, and continuing until Dec. 12, the latter being this year's Tuberculosis Sunday. On the other days the pupils of the public schools, the attendants at lodges and clubs, and members of military and civic organizations, will be interested in some other way.

New Postmasters Likely.

There are 140 offices of the first, second and third class in this state whose postmasters have not been changed since the Democrats came into power nearly three years ago. These officials may expect a change this winter, it is said. The offices include: Ellenville, Highland, Hudson, Hyde Park, Kerhonkson, Liberty, Napanoch, Newburgh, Peekskill, Tuxedo Park and Warwick.

Canal Shipments Heavy.

Records for the transportation of freight on the Erie canal are likely to be broken if the last half of November keeps pace with the first half of the month. The second week of November showed a gain of nearly 30,000 tons over the corresponding week of 1914. The transportation of wheat was about nine times the amount in 1914, and lumber, pig iron, coal and barley malt also showed large increases.

Canal Bond Issue Carried.

With returns from fifty-eight of the sixty-two counties collected by Frank M. Williams, state engineer and surveyor, it is estimated the bond issue of $27,000,000 to complete the barge canal was carried by at least 40,000. Without the four counties of Broome, Greene, Rockland and Sullivan, which have not yet reported, the majority is 47,357.

Favor Child Labor Law.

Three state federations of women's clubs have gone on record in a week as favoring a federal bill to prohibit the shipment of interstate commerce of child-made goods. They are the Pennsylvania, Indiana and New Jersey Federations, representing more than 15,000 women.

Quarterly Conference.

Quarterly conference, the third of the year, will be held in the Plattekill Methodist Episcopal Church on Saturday afternoon at 2.30. The Rev. George A. MacDonald of Newburgh will preside.

Belgium Day Nov. 24.

Wednesday, Nov. 24, has been designated as Belgium day by the American relief association, and contributions of food, clothing and money are asked.

THE WORK AHEAD FOR FARM BUREAUS

In outlining the ideals for farm bureau activities, Dean Beverly T. Galloway, at the meeting of farm bureau managers, held at Cornell this week, said that the fundamental principles are applicable everywhere. "We should get away," he said, "from the old idea of state lines, county lines, or any other artificial boundaries, which is nothing more than the recrudescence of individualism, born of frontier life and frontier conditions. Men are reaching elbows, and there are no divisional lines in the brotherhood of men."

Of the farm bureau of the future, he said:

Growth Through Service.

"Communities are much like individuals. No individual can grow unless he serves. No community can grow economically, socially, morally or ethically unless it is aroused to the need of service. Growth, to be permanent, must come from within and the only way it can come from within is for the people who constitute it to move, to act, to do something for the common good. In the old days when we selected a good farmer, because he was a good farmer, to go out and help other farmers, the most surprised man was the good farmer himself, for he found at once that the mere fact of his helping other farmers helped him as much or more than it did his neighbors. If farm bureau work is to be permanent, if it is to accomplish its aims economically, socially, and, I might almost say, morally and ethically, it must be an outgrowth of local spirit, wisely guided, but not directed or dominated by any agencies from without."

Growth From Within.

"The federal government, the state governments, and other agencies, public and private, are uniting and co-operating to place in the hands of the local communities all those things that will be most helpful in helping them to help themselves. This will mean funds, advice, sympathy, support, and more important than all, a nation-wide united and consistent idealism which is found in the broad and generous meaning of the word 'co-operation.' Co-operation for what? Not for bureaucratic or centralized control or direction, not for a system that will make our farm people merely receivers, but for a plan and a system that will quicken social consciousness and make our people give. This is the real meaning of the word co-operation as it was written into the Lever bill, and, while we cannot expect to attain the high ideals, as there expressed, all at once, we can work toward them with all the zeal at our command."

The Successful Leader.

"We see the farm-bureau work of the future wisely guided and directed by local leaders, with vision, with sound ideals, and with that most rare and uncommon thing—common sense. These leaders must be in the community and of the community they serve. If the leader is successful in becoming an integral part of the community, if he really deserves it, learns it, and loves it, the rest will not be difficult. He should never lose sight of the fact that he is the crystallizing agent whose job it is to bring the forces together for the purpose of molding them for the common good, and that self-effacement is the most potent force of all in accomplishing the results to be desired."

"The greatest pleasure and satisfaction that can come to anyone engaged in constructive, administrative, or organizational work is the pleasure of standing away on the side lines, completely off the stage and quietly watching results unfold themselves—results which he alone

The Place of the Home.

"And finally, we see the farm bureau work of the future a rounded-out work reaching not only into the things that affect the farmer, such as his crops, his livestock, and his markets, but into the home. Here we men are on delicate ground, so delicate in fact that we must step aside and give place to the women, who for all time have been the guardians and keepers of the home. We, therefore, see woman's work in the home and for the home an integral and intimate part of future farm bureau activities. I can see no need for separate machinery, or separate organization for this type of work."

"In New York state we are now ready for three or four farm bureau projects for work in the farm home. The communities themselves are ready to do their share and are awake to the need of the work. Trained leaders can be secured, the subject matter is sufficiently organized to make it available and useful, and certain quite definite means of approach have been worked out. Food, clothing, and housing will no doubt constitute the essentials in this work for some time. More vital still is the problem of the children. What a fatuous theory that holds because a woman is a woman she should know all about how to care for children, how to protect them against the many ills to which they are subject. The men cannot even depend upon themselves in the matter of looking after the ills of their livestock. No, let us look forward to a future farm bureau work, that to quote an earnest laborer in the field, 'should give us in every county, or in every rural community, two kinds of workers—the visiting nurse and the county representative—women of broad education, broad sympathies, with a keen knowledge of the subjects to be taught, and how to teach them, women to whom the farm woman should feel she could go for sympathy and counsel, women who are physically strong enough to stand hardship of poor railroads and poor hotels, women who will be glad to be the bearers of the gospel of better homes, better children, and a more contented and happier rural population.'"

TEUTONIC SUCCESS IN THE BALKANS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London Nov. 19. Among the developments in the Balkan situation today is the following:
1. Reported capture of Rashtka, Serbia, by Austro-German troops thus completing total occupation of old Serbia by the Teutons.
2. Fall of Monastir into hands of the Bulgarians as unofficially reported from Salonika.
3. Fresh threats to Greece by allies and demands by entente powers that Greece demobilize.
4. Claims made in Berlin that a German-Bulgarian pact is being negotiated.
The report of the fall of Rashtka was published in German newspapers and telegraphed to London by way of Bern, Switzerland. The dispatch noted that the Serbs were falling back upon Prired and that the Germans were marching upon Novi Bazar, whose forts command the road leading into Monastir.
Rashtka is 50 miles south of Kragujevac and 67 miles west of Nish.
More light upon the coverage measures planned against Greece by the allies is contained in the following Rome dispatch:
"Information has been received to the effect that the allies have demanded that Greece demobilize. Permission to divulge the coercive measures to be adopted in case Greece refuses to comply are withheld, but it is known that one of the steps that will be taken will be Italian occupation of the most important of the Hellenic islands."
It is said that all the demands that are now made upon Greece are signed by representatives of England, France, Russia and Italy.
The report from Berlin that a German-Bulgarian agreement is only a matter of time has increased the anxiety already felt here. There has not been a single development of importance within the past twenty-four hours to lessen the pessimism left regarding the Balkans.
The crisis for the remnants of the Serb army is now at hand. Meanwhile the Teutonic allies are continuing their successful offensive throughout four fifths of Serbia. Only in the extreme southern part a few miles from the Greek border, have the French and English succeeded in stemming the Bulgarian advance.

MEAT VALUES OF REAL MERIT AT Lay's Saturday Sale

We've done business in this city long enough now for most of the people to know what sort of market this really is—the home of high quality meats, honest weights, finest Bologna, Frankfurters, Pork sausage, etc., better service and best meat values. For us to devote one iota from the policy which has made us successful would be to sacrifice the quality of our meats. That's why we continue to select the very best meats, especially for our Saturday Sales, and keep down the prices to the lowest possible level.

Our Thanksgiving sale for Wednesday, Nov. 24, will be a record-breaker. Our poultry supply will be the greatest we have ever had the good fortune to obtain. If you want REALLY GOOD Poultry, wait for this sale.

OUR FLYING WORLD

Its Awful Velocity in Its Spiral Whirl Through Space.

THE RESULT IF IT STOPPED.

Were Its Motion Suddenly Arrested the Earth Would Be Vaporized by the Heat Generated and a New Nebula Would Blaze in the Heavens.

The direction and speed of the earth's flight are the resultants of two motions with which it is endowed—the one around the sun, the other with the sun straight away through space. The combination of these simultaneous motions causes the earth to travel in a spiral path whose axis is directed nearly toward the bright star Vega, the most beautiful in the northern sky.

In its orbit, or annual path around the sun, the earth's mean speed is eighteen and one-half miles per second, while its speed of transition toward Vega, which it shares with the sun, is about twelve miles per second. We may call the resultant or combined speed of the earth in its actual spiral trajectory twenty-two miles per second. This means that if you could stand beside it and see the earth rush by its whole enormous globe, 8,000 miles in diameter, would pass your eye in about six minutes. It means that in one day and night (twenty-four hours) the earth travels 1,900,800 miles!

Compared with the velocity of projectiles, the speed of the earth's flight is so great that the swiftest of them would seem to stand still. A rifle bullet may go, say, one-third of a mile per second in the first moments of its flight—that is, sixty times slower than the earth, which never stops or slows up. The initial velocity of some projectiles may be half a mile per second, or forty-four times slower than the earth. If a cannon could be planted out in space and fired at the earth from a distance equal to one-quarter of the earth's diameter (which would be like a hunter firing his rifle about eighteen inches from a deer's side) and if the shot were aimed at the front edge of the flying earth (imagining the latter flat like a disk) and fired with an undiminished velocity of half a mile per second it would not only miss its mark, but the whole breadth of the earth would have passed by before the ball had traversed one-tenth of the original distance separating the cannon from the earth.

The motion of the earth becomes possibly even more impressive when we consider the awful energy that it produces. Kinetic energy, or the capacity to do work, such as striking a blow, is measured by multiplying the mass of the moving body by the square of its velocity and dividing the product by 2. In order to get the result in foot pounds we reckon the mass in pounds and divide again by 32 or by 64 in all. The reason for dividing by 32 (more exactly 32.18) is that that number is the unit (in feet per second) of the earth's gravitation, or the acceleration of gravity.

Calculated in this way, the kinetic energy of the earth comes out at more than ninety septillion (90 followed by twenty-four zeros) foot pounds! Figured in another way, the energy in the flying earth is equivalent to nearly three sextillions of horsepower, the horsepower being the measure of the work done by 33,000 foot pounds of energy developed in one minute.

That is to say, if the earth could be brought to rest in one minute and all its energy turned into driving machinery it would develop nearly three sextillions of horsepower. But if it were brought to rest in one second it would develop sixty times more horsepower! Then we may consider the thermal effects of the earth's kinetic energy if by instantaneous arrest of the motion it were turned into heat. There would be a sudden development of so tremendous a temperature that the earth might be vaporized. Puff! And some astronomer on some distant planet, aiming his telescope through the cool evening air, would catch sight of a little new nebula, twinkling like a thistle down blown into the sky of space.

Thereafter the dissipated earth would appear in a catalogue on that faroff world under the name of "Jones Nebula," and nobody, casually glancing at it from an observatory and unsympathetically noting its extreme exiguity, would ever think of the heartbreaking history that had been nebularized in that speck of cosmic vapor.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York Journal.

A Fool's Paradise.
The expression "A fool's paradise" meant originally in Christian mythology a region "near the abode of the blessed," but not a part of it, a sort of borderland, "where dwell the prizeless and the blissless dead." Today it is used to denote the mental condition of those who by their vain hopes are "fooling" themselves.—New York American.

Ripening Fruits.
Fruits undergo marked changes in chemical composition as they grow to their full size and ripen. In some fruits ripening increases the sugar content and decreases the acid, whereas in some others both sugar and acid content decrease in the ripening process.

Unforeseen.
"Didn't you guarantee that mattress for six months?"
"Yes, sir, but you didn't tell me it was for a boy's boarding school!"
—New York Times.

A good inflow makes a good outflow: he who takes in much can and must give much.—Starke.

Preparedness—Prepare now, at a 10 per cent reduction. All overcoats reduced. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 18, 19 and 20. S. COHEN'S SONS, Kingston, N. Y.—Advertisement.

SMITHSON'S FORTUNE.

The Gift Which Founded a Great Scientific Institution.

The Smithsonian Institution at Washington was created by act of Congress in 1846 to carry out the conditions of the will of James Smithson, an English chemist and mineralogist, who bequeathed his fortune to the United States of America to found at Washington under the name of the Smithsonian Institution an establishment for "the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men."

The will became operative at the death of its maker, which occurred at Genoa in 1829, and the income of the estate, went to Smithson's nephew, Henry James Hungerford, until the death of the latter on June 8, 1835. The bequest of the property to the United States thereupon became operative, and in September, 1835, the state department received notification thereof.

On Dec. 17 President Jackson informed congress of the bequest, and on July 1, 1836, the gift was accepted and the president empowered to appoint an agent to collect the money. Richard Rush of Pennsylvania was intrusted with this duty, and in November he brought the necessary formal writ in the English court of chancery, where the claim remained for two years. Upon the final interpretation of the will Rush returned to America, bringing the fund with him in English gold, $508,318. It was nearly eight years before congress decided on a plan of carrying out the will of the testator.

The total endowment of the institution is now nearly $1,000,000, and with the support and co-operation of the government it has become one of the most important scientific institutions in the world.

Your Overcoat, at S. COHEN'S SONS, from $3.50 to $40.00, at 10 per cent reduction. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 18, 19 and 20.—Advertisement.

PERSIAN PAINTINGS.

Oriental Art That Embodies the Essence of Romance.

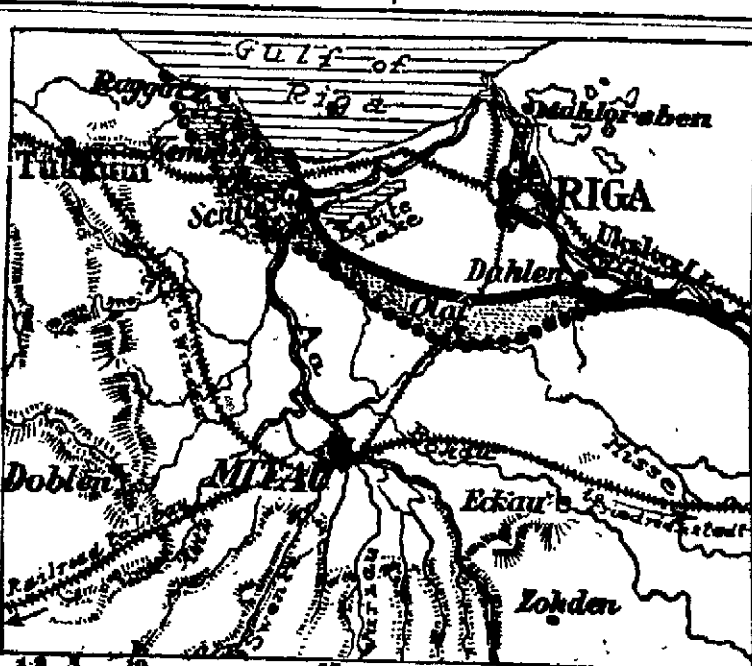

No dramatic, no passionate motive ever so grips and possesses a Persian artist as to absorb his whole imagination. His sensuous love of beauty cannot resist filling in the accessories of the scene with just as much care and intention in every detail as he devotes to the central figures.

In the great works of Chinese and Japanese painters, as in masters like Rembrandt, accessories are subdued or suppressed, the color is limited, and the figures which create the motive of the design are so emphasized, so dominant in the eye that they seem to transcend the limits of the framing space, they seem alive with all the latent energies of actual men and women.

No Persian painting imposes itself thus on the imagination. Everything remains within the frame, inlaid as in a lustrous mosaic. The Persian method has, it is true, its own compensation. Just as in the early pictures of Rossetti and Millais, everything is realized with a dreamlike vision, and this is always a real achievement for the painter. The freshness and glory thus brought to the eye, as of a world washed clean, with every object magically distinct and burning with clear color, make a vivid impression of strangeness. Strangeness, remoteness from the routine of every day—that is the essence of romance, and no art in the world is more steeped in romance than the painting of Persia.—Laurence Binyon in Atlantic.

Feminine Finance.
Husband—"Why in the world do you have our bills come in weekly instead of monthly?"
Wife—"You told me that you didn't want them so large, didn't you?"—Boston Transcript.

Foresight for Lovers.
Never make up your mind definitely about a girl until you try her pie first.
—Baltimore American.

HOW RUSSIANS MENACE GERMAN BASE NEAR RIGA.

The significance of the recent advance of Gen. Ruzsky's men on the Dvina front against the troops of Gen. von Hindenburg is shown here. Mitau, indicated by a star, is the German advance base in this region and is largely supplied by the two railroads shown, one from Libau and the other from Windau. The furthest advance of the Russians toward Riga is marked by the heavy line, the shaded territory they have lost again, and the dotted line shows the approximate present battle front. It can be seen that in pushing west toward Tukum, the Russians are threatening further east will be endangered. The Germans tried to cross the Dvina at the town of Dahlen, and opposite Ukskull, but were repulsed. The territory along the Aa and around Kern and Schlok, which the Russians have reoccupied, is mostly swamp and forest.

Where Plants Grow on Wires.

In Porto Rico, where the atmosphere is moist and balmy, air plants often lodge in the most unusual places and produce the most unusual effects while growing. Frequently they establish themselves on telephones and telegraph wires. The insulation rots in places and the plants take root, grow and thrive.

The Worst of It.

"The worst of coaxing people to sing," said Gaius N. Grimm, "is that they usually yield to the earnest solicitation of their friends and accept the nomination."—Judge.

Scarlet Fever and Milk.

Scarlet fever is practically unknown in the tropics and doctors say this is because so little fresh milk is drunk there. The streptococcus, which occurs in large quantities in most raw milk is always present in scarlet fever and experts see in that a cause and effect.

The Looks of It.

"It is your duty, Maria, not to attempt to smooze in any fiery from Paris."
"But when I succeed I am only doing my duty, am I not?"—Baltimore American.

JUSTICE HOWARD IS A CANDIDATE

Justice Wesley O. Howard today put an end to all doubt and speculation as to his position with reference to a renomination for the office of justice of the supreme court, says the Troy Times, by practically announcing that he would be a candidate and would continue on the bench "if the people by their ballots indicate a desire to have me continue." Justice Howard stated that he made this announcement reluctantly, as he was averse to taking any step that would appear to be unseemly on the part of one occupying a place on the bench, but after giving the matter careful thought and consideration, and consulting his friends, he had reached the conclusion that in justice to others he should define his position and relieve all uncertainty.

When the direct question, "Are you a candidate for re-election to the bench?" was propounded to him at his chambers at the court house this morning, Justice Howard replied: "Perhaps it would not be exactly correct for me to say that I am a candidate. I would not like to put it that way; for I should not consider it quite seemly for a justice of the supreme court to announce himself a candidate and go into a rough-and-tumble fight for a re-election. However, if I am renominated I shall not decline to run."

"It has been reported, judge, that you have stated you were not sure that you cared to be renominated." To this Justice Howard said: "In private conversation I may have, on some occasions, expressed a doubt as to whether I would like to remain in the judiciary after the expiration of my present term, but upon mature consideration of the subject, and being urged to remain by my colleagues and by attorneys all over my judicial district, I have concluded to continue on the bench if the people by their ballots indicate a desire to have me continue."

When asked if, in the event of his renomination and re-election he would expect to continue on the Appellate Division, Justice Howard answered: "If I should be elected for another term I should retire from the Appellate Division if the governor would permit me to do so, and return to the trial bench, where the work is more congenial to me."

Justice Howard still has more than a year to serve, as his fourteen years' term does not expire until January 1, 1917. The election to fill the position, however, will occur next fall.

Parallels Judge Cochran's Case. Editorially, the Times says: "Justice of the Supreme Court Wesley O. Howard, sitting on the Appellate Division, announces that he will accept a renomination from this judicial district.

"The position of Justice Howard parallels that of Justice Cochran, who was re-elected November 2, without opposition. Both have been admirable magistrates, who have won the esteem of the bar by their legal ability, their impartiality and their conspicuous courtesy; both are on the Appellate Division by designation of the governor, and having performed without partisanship and with a distinguished fidelity the duties of a judicial position both should have, as Justice Cochran has already had, renomination by the political party which first named him and endorsement by the other parties.

"The prediction made by Governor Black, who greatly admired Justice Howard, of his ability and keen knowledge of human nature, that he would be one of the most satisfactory judges that ever sat on the bench in this district, has been amply fulfilled. A tireless student, an indefatigable officer of the state, with a courtesy that is unwearied, Justice Howard has won the approbation of the entire bar and the confidence of the public.

"Such a career on the bench deserves the tribute of a unanimous re-election. The Troy Times hopes that will be the case, and sees no reason to doubt it."

Bad Hearing.

When Proctor Knott, now dead, was governor of Kentucky an influential citizen of a mountain county in the eastern end of the state was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to serve a term of years in prison.

Having an aversion to going to prison the mountaineer brought pressure to bear upon the executive office with a view to securing a pardon. His enemies were equally active in fighting his petition, and they set on foot a movement to convince the pardoning power that he was a menace to the peace of the community and belonged behind steel bars.

One day the governor received a letter written personally by the convicted man. It began as follows:

"Dear Gov.—If you've heard what I've heard you've heard you've heard a lie."—Saturday Evening Post.

What Memory Is.

The correct way to increase the productivity of the memory is to link every new thing with an understood thought already in hand. Merely to memorize the Bible and thus to be able parrot-like to speak it "by heart" is not memory. Intellectually and emotionally to appreciate and understand one psalm or proverb is memory. To know where to put your finger on the right verse or passage of the Bible on your table is practical and useful recollection. Dictionaries, directories, encyclopedias, indexes and reference books do the mechanical part for you. Reason, association, adaptability and the perception of relationships are better than much Latin and more Greek, however beautiful and instructive these may be in themselves.—Exchange.

Old Times at the Capital.

In recalling the lively and picturesque incidents which the old times enjoyed in Washington one is moved almost to tears over the commonplace nature of his own times. John Adams used to bathe in the Potomac every morning at daylight because he had no bathtub in the White House, and no one ever pulled a camera on him. President Taylor used to walk about the town and stop and chat with every one he met, like a policeman. A reception in the White House in these days is relieved of monotony only by the great crush of guests, who trample the clothes off one another's backs. Another president set up in the east room a 600 pound cheese and invited the multitude to come in and help itself, which the multitude proceeded to do.

World's Oldest Industry.

The pearl fisheries of Ceylon are said to be the oldest industry in the world. For over 3,000 years the pearl oyster harvest has been gathered by the natives, who, skilled in diving, have handed down the industry from one generation to the next. Pearl fishing in Ceylon today is somewhat of a speculation. The greatest care is taken lest when the shells of the bivalves are opened any of the precious gems be lost or stolen. A very strict watch is kept over the natives who are employed in this kind of work, but in spite of the greatest precautions some of the smaller stones are frequently concealed. The refuse from the shells is very carefully examined subsequent to this first examination. Even the dried dust of the oyster is carefully sifted.

Smokeless Powder.

Smokeless powder dates back some fifty years, but it was not until about 1880 that it attained its real efficiency and sprang into general use. It must be understood that even the best of this powder is not absolutely smokeless. It is not smoky enough, however, to "do any harm," and as compared with the old powder may well be called "smokeless."—New York American.

Charles Reade's Mistake.

"It was Charles Reade, wasn't it, who wrote, 'Nothing is so terrible as a fool?'"
"Yes, but he was wrong. I live next door to a newly married couple. If Charles could see them he would at once admit that two fools are even more terrible."—Chicago Herald.

A Long Pull.

Personally we never expect to have any trouble with our appendix. We think the dentist pulled it out when he fetched that tooth.—Galveston News.

Eggs.

The earliest Scriptural mention of eggs as a food is found in Job vi. 6: "Is there any taste in the white of an egg?"
Men are born to succeed, not to fail.—Thorau.

Woman's World

The Queen of Italy as Mother and Relief Worker.

QUEEN HELENA OF ITALY.

When Helena, princess of Montenegro, became queen of Italy her first work of mercy was tending the wounded in a serious railroad accident at Castel Gubileo, near Rome. It was due to the queen's efforts that relief and rescue work was started promptly after the Messina earthquake and again during the recent Avezzano earthquake, when the work was hard, as medical supplies, blankets and provisions had all been sent to the front for the war then expected at any moment and the relief of the earthquake survivors was almost hopeless.

The queen is an excellent executive, far surpassing the lady of court in her talent of organization. During the present war she has loaded with shoes and clothing to the children of the soldiers at the front. She personally selects all the materials, and they are of excellent quality, suited to the needs of the occasion.

She is the queen of another realm, too—her own household. There she shines supreme, for she has personally supervised the education of her children, all beautiful, every one of them. Naturally, the one son has had her special care and solicitude, for he one day will be the king of Italy. Indeed, she has so often said that if she could be as successful in the bringing up of the little Umberto as the Queen Mother Margherita was in the education of his father it is all the reward she asks. The queen has four daughters.

Queen Helena never forgets how kind her charming mother-in-law was always to her. The only regret of her life was when she was compelled to take the place of beautiful Margherita of Savoy, who had been the idol of the Italian people for a quarter of a century.

"Still remain queen of Italy," she pleaded, "and let me be known as consort of the king." But Margherita shook her head and, smiling through her tears, answered: "Dear child, the dreadful fatality which befalls my husband of his earthly crown compels me also to resign mine. I am now nothing but a queen by courtesy, and I gladly surrender to you both the honors and duties of a station which no longer has any attractions for me." And Helena bowed to the inevitable with as fine a grace as any queen in all Europe.

SURE WRINKLE CURE.

How to Change Your Face From Ugliness to Beauty.

How can one get rid of disfiguring wrinkles satisfactorily? The remedy is so simple that few will believe in its efficiency and yet in many instances it is so difficult to apply that many women after a few trials will give up in despair. But it is the only real remedy, and, what is more, any one can apply it right in her own home. The secret is this: Think pleasant thoughts, drive out of your head all ideas of evil, jealousy or rage.

The face reflects every emotion more faithfully even than a mirror. What you are, what kind of thoughts you entertain can be no secret to the world. All your ideas, whether for good or evil, are written upon your face for all to read who gaze upon you. Don't deceive yourself by supposing that you can dissemble, for you can't. As you think, so is your face molded.

Have you ever noticed how, even an ugly face, one that has few redeeming features, is made lovely to look upon by a pleasant expression, by a mouth that tells a tale of kindness, by eyes that look gladly upon the world?

If you are afflicted with deep lines which spread from nose to mouth you may know they come from discouraged thoughts from a tendency to look on the black side of life. Pessimism draws down the corners of the mouth, makes the cheek sag dismally, and gives the whole face a disagreeable expression. Change your viewpoint and note the difference in your face. In fact, cultivate optimism for six months or so, and then you may laugh at wrinkles, for you will find they have disappeared.

UNION REVIVAL SERVICE PLANS

Kingston's union evangelistic revival services under the direction of six of the uptown churches will be held for three weeks beginning Sunday, January 23.

The union services will be held on Sunday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week during the evangelistic campaign. The services during the first week will be held in the Fair Street Reformed Church. In the second and third weeks they will be held in St. James' Methodist Episcopal Church. The leaders of the meetings will be the pastors of the six churches which have united in the movement. At each of the services there will be a chorus of two hundred voices, who will be trained by an out of town leader.

As a preliminary to the evangelistic campaign, there will be a series of Cottage Prayer Meetings, which will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, January 11 and 12, and the following Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, January 18 and 19.

Experience has taught that Cottage Prayer Meetings are most effective when taking the nature of neighborhood gatherings, and at a meeting of the Cottage Prayer Meeting Committee, Thursday evening, after the meeting of the general committee, it was decided to divide the responsibility for the arrangement and direction of these meetings among the various uptown wards, as follows:

First Ward—First Dutch Church—Second Ward—Albany Avenue Baptist Church.
Tenth Ward—Clinton Avenue M. E. Church.
Eleventh Ward—Fair Street Reformed Church.
Twelfth Ward—St. James M. E. Church.

Third ward to be determined later.

The matter of holding the cottage prayer meetings in every block was discussed but was left to each ward as a unit to determine whether the meetings shall take that form or another form.

The general committee meeting discussed the advisability of observing "Go to Church Sunday" on January 23, the day on which the revival meetings will begin, and it was decided to invite all the city churches to co-operate in the movement.

A mass meeting for men will be held in the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church on Thursday evening, December 2, at which matters of importance with the revival will be discussed.

Permanent chairmen of the committees were chosen as follows:
Committee on ushers—Crawford R. Styles.
Committee on prayer meetings—E. G. Adams.
Committee on music—W. Whiting Eedenburgh.
Committee on finance—Herbert Carl.
Committee on arrangements—Rev. F. B. Sordley.
Committee on publicity—J. L. Lee.

Rochester Farm Sold.

Everett Fowler as referee in the mortgage foreclosure action brought by Benjamin Dunn against Mamie Smith and others sold at auction at the court house at noon today the Smith farm, consisting of 55 acres in the town of Rochester. After spirited bidding the farm was sold to Philip Wadinger for $1,300. Virgil E. Van Wagoner appeared for the plaintiff and Daniel B. Deyo for infant defendants.

Wife Cannot Be Dictator.

A wife must make her home with her husband and mother-in-law. It is not the right of the wife to say where she and her husband shall live. So the court of errors and appeals of New Jersey has ruled.

Scientific Farming

CARE OF LIVE STOCK.

Barns, Pens and Yards Should Be Kept Clean and Sanitary.

It is a well known fact among successful live stock men that it is very important to keep clean the barns, pens and yards where the animals are kept, says Hoard's Dairyman. What is the meaning of clean? Well, there are many conceptions of cleanliness. Many farmers think if they keep their barns and pens free from manure that they are clean. This is true to a certain extent, for it is important to keep the premises free from manure and other refuse. Others will hold that not only must the manure be removed, but the walls and ceilings of the barn must be kept free from cobwebs, dust and the like in order to have a clean barn and that whitewash-ing once a year is necessary. When the various buildings about the farm are kept clean, not only are better homes provided for the stock, but work is easier and more inviting. Being clean is not a fad. It is a dollar and cents proposition.

It is well known now that most, if not all, diseases are caused by germs. Cattle cannot have tuberculosis unless exposed to tubercular bacteria, nor suffer from abortion unless infected with abortion germs, nor foot and mouth disease unless they come in contact with the bacteria which cause this disease. Hogs do not have hog cholera unless they are exposed to the germ that produces this disease. So it is with the many other diseases which claim our live stock. It is plain that one of the factors in keeping live stock healthy is to destroy the bacteria, and disinfectants will do this.

Farm Machinery Investment.

A difficult problem on the American farm is to decide how much and what kind of machinery should be purchased. Some farms are so overstocked with machinery that the depreciation, interest and repairs eat up much of the profits.

Assuming the average depreciation on machinery at 10 per cent and the interest on the money invested at 6 per cent, we have an average yearly expense of approximately $13 on each $100 invested in machinery. A man who has $1,500 worth of machinery would have $195 expense on this alone in interest and depreciation. If his work could be done with half this amount he could save $97.50. This would be equivalent to the interest on $1,625 at 6 per cent.

A farm of eighty acres cannot profitably use four-horse machinery, because three horses should do the work on a farm of this size. In buying machinery too large in proportion to the size of the farm unnecessary expense is added. This comes, not only in the increased cost of machinery, but also in the maintenance of any extra horse required.

NEW SILAGE POINTERS.

In a special research on the subject of silos and silage the Iowa station has found these illuminating facts on subjects supposed to be about exhausted:

The two chief things affecting the quality of silage are the maturity of the corn at the time of cutting and the amount of rootsture in it.

The greener the corn is the more acid will develop in the silage. Most of the acid is formed in the first seven days, and at the end of three weeks fermentation is complete.

Seeming Inconsistencies.

Explosives go in innocent guise. Thus picric acid is a cure for burns. It is also the main ingredient of lyddite, the terrific agent in high-explosive shells. Without nitrogen there could be no explosive at all, yet this inert gas is the chief constituent in the very air we breathe.

The Human Mind.

Slow in forming, swift in acting; slow in the making, swift in the work; slow in the summer, swift down the other slope. It is the way of nature and the way of the human mind. —Anthony Hope.

Fool's Paradise.

Originally, in Christian mythology, a region "near the abode of the blessed," but not a part of it, a sort of borderland, "where dwell the praiseless and the blameless dead." Today used to denote the mental condition of those who, by their vain hopes, are "fooling" themselves.

Courageous Policeman.

Inspector—How was it possible for the prisoner to get away from you? Policeman (embarrassed)—Well, you see, on the way we were chased by a cow, and he stood still.—Filegende Blätter.

Daily Thought.

There is an idea abroad among moral people that they should make their neighbors good. One person I have to make good—myself. But my duty to my neighbor is much more nearly expressed by saying that I have to make him happy—if I may.—Stevenson.

Big Chances Both Ways.

The famous physician and the eminent clergyman were deep in a discussion which threatened to become acrimonious. "You see," said the minister sarcastically, "you medical men know so much about the uncertainties of this world that I should think you would not want to live." "Oh, I don't know," responded the physician caustically. "You clergymen tell us so much about the uncertainties of the next world that we don't want to die."—Exchange.

Never Give Up.

Be not discouraged or out of humor because practice falls short of precept in some particulars. If you happen to be beaten, come on again, and be glad if most of your acts are worthy of human nature. Love that to which you return, and do not go like a schoolboy to his master, with an ill will.—Marcus Aurelius.

MENKE'S DAILY
SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Nov. 19.—There were many contributing factors to Princeton's unexpected defeat by Yale last Saturday, but in the minds of most of those who saw the combat, the failure of the Tigers to emerge triumphant was due largely to the fact that Frank Glick, the Princeton Captain, pulled an excusable "boner" with victory in sight during the last few moments of play.

Glick, instead of doing the expected in that critical moment in the last period when Princeton had the ball on Yale's six yard line, took a desperate chance. He tried to "cross" Yale by executing a totally unexpected play—and he failed. It was a brilliant scheme and it merited success, but Billy Moore, the Tiger halfback, fumbled, the play failed of execution, and Glick, instead of being a hero is charged with a "bone" play.

The score stood 13 to 7 in Yale's favor with about four minutes left to play in the final period when Princeton secured possession of the ball on Yale's 34 yard line through a punt by Guernsey to Law. On the first play after formation, Moore made four yards around left end. He smashed through left tackle for four yards on the next play and then Dickerman made it first down for Princeton by running center for a five yard gain which took the ball to Yale's 21 yard line.

Dickerman was given the ball on the next play and gained two more through right guard. Moore followed with four yards through left guard and immediately afterward annexed another four yards by ripping through center for another first down.

On the next play Moore gained one yard through the line and Dickerman followed by crashing through center for a three yard gain taking the ball to Yale's six yard line and sending the Tiger rooters into a frenzy of madness. It looked like a touchdown for Princeton.

And then Glick, the quarterback, called for the play that ruined the Tiger's chance. He called for a double pass when it seemed that the sure road to a touchdown was by hurling Moore and Dickerman against wearing and faltering the Yale line again.

In Princeton's triumphant march down from the 34 yard line that pair of backs were an irresistible force. They had battered the Yale line almost into exhaustion. They had averaged a gain of four yards in their seven attempts, the Yale line was growing weaker every second. It seemed that the play for Glick to make at that point was to hurl Moore and Dickerman back at the line. That pair had averaged eight yards in every two plays—and Princeton needed only six yards in two plays for a touchdown.

But Glick did not send Moore or Dickerman against the line on the next play. He did the unexpected. He reached with Yale by taking the ball for play—a double pass. The signals were called, the ball was snapped to Glick and he passed it to Dickerman. Dickerman ran towards Yale's left end and then, just as the Yale line broke through and were about to tackle him he threw the ball at Billy Moore.

The pass to Moore was a bit low and he couldn't make the catch. The ball hit the ground and bounded toward the sideline. Moore chased it, trying futilely to pick it up as it bounded tantalizingly in front of him, but the ball always was a bit out of his reach. As it bounded off into foul territory, Moore hurled himself at it, but he was too late. Wilson, the Yale Captain, had made a dive a fraction of a second earlier and had thrown himself over the pigskin.

It was Yale's ball on Yale's 17 yard line—and Princeton's glorious chance for victory had gone.

Games Scheduled For This Week.
Tonight—Jersey City at Kingston.
Saturday—Kingston at Stamford.
Jersey City at Paterson.

Jersey City which at present is leading the league will be the opponents of the Kingston quintet at the armory this evening. The visitors have good men in their lineup, such players as "Chief" Muller, "Skeels" Wright, Biggame, Roach, Reichen and Harvey form the quintet. To defeat this outfit the locals will have to show some speed. With Wachter and Lamb here tonight the locals should have enough speed to come out the winners, thereby displacing Jersey City as league leaders.

The time for starting the games has been changed. Heretofore the starting time has been advertised as 8:30 o'clock. Commencing with the Jersey City-Kingston game tonight the games will start somewhere between 8:45 and 9 o'clock. No game to be started later than 9 o'clock, which will allow plenty of time for dancing. The game next week will be on Saturday, dancing starting at 8 o'clock continuing until 9:15, the game to start at 9:30, which will be played in one hour, and then dancing again from 10:30 to 12 o'clock.

Jersey City, 31; Brooklyn, 20.

The Jersey City Club took the lead in the Interstate Basketball League last night by defeating the Brooklyn team in Jersey City by a score of 31 to 20. Muller of the victors shot seven field goals, several of which were from difficult angles. The score:

Jersey City—Reich, 1f.; Muller, 1f.; Harvey, Wright, c.; Roach, rg.; Biggame lg.

Brooklyn—Shean, 1f.; Brummer, Bailey, 1f.; Ruckert, c.; Ripley, rg.; Brill, Bryan, lg.

Score—Jersey City, 31; Brooklyn, 20. Goals from field—Reich, 2; Muller, 7; Roach, 2; Biggame, 2; Shean, 2; Buckert, 2; Ripley, 1; Brill, 1. Goals from fouls—Reich, 1; Muller, 2; Biggame, 2; Bailey, 2; Brummer, 2; Shean, 2. Time of halves—26 minutes.

HARVARD'S LINE PLUNGER
READY FOR YALE GAME.

As a running mate for King, the Harvard left half back, Boles, the right half, has been showing some remarkable line plunging ability in practice. He will probably get into the game against Yale.

Although Enright has been playing with the substitutes there is a belief that he will be sent in during the first part of the game in place of Boles. Enright was out of the game most of the season and is not expected to be able to stand the grueling fight of the Yale game, so Boles will be held in reserve.
